

ARCHITECTURAL STOPS

Neringa, Lithuania, 2015

The bus-stop and the overlook is a part of the continuous project "Architectural stops in the Curonian Spit". The first stage of the project, the workshop-competition: 1st prize.

The „PERISCOPE“, lifting the observer to the level of the heads of the trees, invites one to admire the landscape from a rather unusual, detached spot. In such way the fragility of the environment as well as the need for a sensitive approach is emphasized. The overlook platform, enclosing the observer displays an enframed fragment of the landscape, leaving a clear picture in one's memory. Such structure might mark the most sensitive parts of the reservation area, proposing a notably cautious, non-physical connection. The unpretentious structure, consisting of wooden truss and thermo timber, - maintains the fundamental signs of the place: textures, smells, pellucidity.

BUS-STOP in Juodkrantė is found between the L. Rėzos street and the coastline; the user – between the bus-stop and the street. The attempt to turn the dividing element into conjunctive provided the object it's shape: the terraced eastern side of the bus-stop suggests overlooking the water once again. The chosen materials are steel construction for the sake of stability and thermo timber stair-terraces for comfort.
